Union Rejects Ford Offer; May Strike Tuesday

Stock-Sharing Plan Is Key Feature in Company Proposal

DETROIT (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers, flatly rejecting Ford's half-million dollar contract offer, early today ordered 125,000 Ford workers to be ready for the key auto industry's first serious strike since 1950 next Tuesday night.

Ford's offer ignored the union demand for a guaranteed annual wage, and union leaders said Ford "has refused even to discuss any of the major economic demands of the union."

Negotiations appeared in danger of collapse that could trigger a nationwide walkout at Ford that might seriously dent the booming national economy and present the Eisenhower administration with its most serious labor crisis yet.

The negotiators, stalking from the negotiating room in a downtown hotel, had earlier rejected a Ford plan for a 37-cent hourly pay package that could scale into more than a 75-cent package increase for some workers by 1960.

The key feature of the Ford offer, which would have given workers less than half of the direct pay boost it wants in addition to the annual wage, was a stock-sharing plan.

Under the plan Ford workers would have a chance to buy Ford stock at half the market price when Ford stock goes on public sale for the first time late this year.

Workers would be eligible for an amount of stock each year equal to a tenth of their yearly earnings. Ford would pay half the cost and the worker the other half. Ford would guarantee that the worker wouldn't lose any of the half he contributed should the stock's value decline.

The union action appeared to confirm that Ford had been singled out as the target for a strike, if the union decides to walk out to win the annual wage. The Ford contract runs out at 12:01 a. m. June 1 and the General Motors contract expires June 7.

The union so far has resisted all Ford efforts to extend the contract past next week's deadline. Ford Vice President John Bugas said the Ford offer was "closely parallel" to the offer made to the union by General Motors. General Motors didn't comment on the report.

But the union, in rejecting the Ford proposal, indicated the offer from General Motors had been better than the Ford offer, although unacceptable to the union. The union statement called the Ford plan a "watered-down version of an inadequate proposal made by General Motors."

Illinois, Indiana To Take Over New Harmony Bridge

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Indiana and Illinois mapped plans today to take over the New Harmony toll bridge over the Wabash River from the federal government and operate it toll-free.

State highway officials met with members of the White County Bridge Commission of Illinois Thursday and reached tentative agreement on the plan. Wednesday the House voted in Washington to investigate what happened to $3,196,000 the $500,000 bridge collected in tolls.

Roy Clippinger, bridge manager and former Republican congressman from Carmi, Ill., hinted at the meeting the House vote of 205-166 was politically inspired.

Clippinger said the commission spent about one million dollars to keep the river on course, another million on bonds, and a million for insurance, taxes and other expenses.

The bridge was operated privately until the government took it over in 1941, Clippinger said. The bonds floated to finance it expire July 15, and officials of both states agreed tentatively to take over the half-mile structure at that time.

Poppy Day Here Tomorrow

Memorial poppies will be sold on the square Saturday by members of the American Legion and V. F. W. Auxiliaries.

The little flower comes from the hands of the disabled veterans and provides work for those in hospitals. The contributions go entirely to aid the disabled and the dependent families.

This is one of the few chances that local people have of paying homage to those who gave so much for their country during times of war. The poppy also brings an opportunity to help those brave men and women who are still suffering because they served.

This year ahead will be brighter for them because of the poppies worn on Poppy Day.

Eddie Driemeyer
Past Commander, American Legion

by the VFW and American Legion auxiliaries. Pledge of Allegiance to the flag, short talk by Frank Channess, address by Mr. Driemeyer, vocal solo "The Star Spangled Banner" and will close with the firing squad and taps. The program will be over about 11 o'clock.

Cedar Bluff Program

Following the ceremony at the local cemetery, the two veterans organizations will proceed to Cedar Bluff church and cemetery, about eleven miles south of Harrisburg on the new Dixon Springs highway, where a program similar to the one here will be held. Vocalist will be Carl Winkelman.

The committee for the Cedar Bluff program is J. C. Barger, H. G. Randolph and William Hull.

Members of the Legion and VFW stated today a sincere effort would be made to place a flag on all graves of veterans. However, some may be missed and if anyone sees a veteran's grave without a flag to contact a member or come to the American Legion home where flags will be available.

The public is invited and urged by American Legion and VFW members to participate in the annual Memorial Day program to honor the dead of all the country's wars.

Many Mountains to Climb, Junior High Graduates Advised

A total of 169 students received diplomas during commencement exercises held last evening in the gymnasium of the Junior high school.

The program opened with music by the Junior high school band directed by W. W. Chunn. Songs played were "Londonderry Air" and "God of Our Fathers."

Following the processional, "Huldigungsmarch," the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" after which Rev. Glen Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian church, gave the invocation.

A girls' ensemble under the direction of Mrs. Charles Ridemour sang "Lift Thine Eyes" and a mixed ensemble sang "One World."

The commencement address was by Dr. Robert G. Buzzard, president of the Eastern Illinois State college, Charleston, who discussed an article in Reader's Digest on the climbing of Mt. Everest, the highest mountain in the world. He stated that there were many mountains to climb to be a success in life, among them elementary school, junior high school, high school and college.

Russell Mallan, superintendent of schools, introduced Bruce Polk, president of the school board, who made the presentation of diplomas.

For the recessional the band played "Southland March," by Nilo Hovey.

Officers and Directors of the Sahara Coal Company, in the Harrisburg area to inspect the properties during this 50th year of the O'Gara Sahara Coal Co. Inc., are pictured as they gathered at a picnic held last night at Sahara lake. Left to right they are E. W. Broeckel of Chicago, Phillip Aiken of Lincoln, Nebr., C. T. Hayden of Chicago, Paul Habbersleben of Harrisburg, J. A. Whitmer of St. Louis, Tom Woods of Lincoln, Nebr., Frank H. Woods of Chicago, and William Aiken of Lincoln. The picnic featured barbecued ribs and a representative group from Saline county was invited. Among those attending were three Harrisburg men who became employed by the firm when the O'Gara Coal Co. was organized in 1905. They were Ed Gaskins, local lumber dealer, D. B. McGeehe, local auto dealer, and Art Stone, retired Sahara company employee.

Gasoline Plant For Eldorado Area Indicated

Eldorado people were keeping their fingers crossed today but there was a lot of indication that a million dollar gasoline plant was coming into the area.

It would be built by Butler and Brown Associates of Houston, Texas.

Progress to date was revealed yesterday by John Stelle of John Stelle Associates, chairman of a negotiating group named several months ago to seek a plant to use part of the natural gas that is now going to waste, and H. D. Armitage, representing Butler, Miller and Lents, oil and gas consultants of Houston. Mr. Armitage, an engineer, has been in the area a number of weeks making a survey of the gas supply.

Mr. Stelle said that contracts between Butler and Brown Associates and operators in the Eldorado field are now being signed and will be deposited in the First State bank of Eldorado.

When the required number of contracts are deposited, the Houston company will put up a cash guarantee of good faith, he added, that they will build transmission lines and a compression plant.

It was announced that it was believed the required number of operators will sign.

No Site Selected

Mr. Armitage said that work probably will start in 90 or 100 days if enough operators sign contracts with the company. He stated the plant and lines will cost about a million dollars. No site has been selected, he announced.

J. Cecil Sullivan, member of John Stelle Associates, said he was contacting the producers in the area and all that he had seen by late yesterday either had signed the contract or had stated they would do so. These included Walter Duncan, Breuer-Robison, Olen Sharp, John Stelle Associates, George and Wraether, Inland Producers, Amos Wood, Meyer-Runyan, J. D. Turner and Dick Portis.

The conservative outlook on the new plant is based on the results of the negotiations with the Warren Petroleum Co. to install a three million dollar plant. Several weeks ago William K. Warren, plant president, and his aides flew to Eldorado to negotiate a contract and secured an option to sign a contract for the gas. When he departed it was believed that the plant was "in the bag" but he later said he did not intend to exercise his option to sign contracts with the Eldorado field producers to buy their gas.

Windstorm Here Hits Tree Limbs, Phone, Power Lines

A storm hit the local area at 12:15 a. m. today, with wind breaking off numerous tree limbs and lightning knocking out transformers.

The windstorm was brief, lasting about 10 minutes, but this morning the city street department was busy cleaning up broken limbs and telephone and power line crews were fixing up damage.

Millard Lynch, manager of the General Telephone Co. exchange here, said there was scattered telephone trouble and William Hopkins, CIPS group superintendent, reported that lightning knocked out several transformers which disrupted power service but that he believed the trouble would be cleared up by noon.

Harrison Kibler reported that rainfall measured .64 inch here and .68 at Galatia.

A power line burned on top a garage at the home of Almie Cook, 612 West Poplar, around 1 a. m., as a result of the storm and the fire department was called. The line was not burning when the fire department arrived.

Illinois Areas Hit by Violent Windstorms

CHICAGO (AP)—Violent windstorms of near tornado strength ripped down power lines, blew over trees and smashed windows in Illinois Thursday night.

At least three unconfirmed tornadoes were reported in the state. A line of heavy rain squalls whipped central Illinois and resulted in injury to nine persons at Springfield. In other areas three persons were injured.

Widespread damage was evident throughout much of northern Illinois. At La Salle devastating winds reached 76 miles per hour.

Chicago police and fire departments said an estimated 350 reports of peril and damage was received.

Broken power lines plunged five Chicago suburbs into darkness. Winds and falling trees snapped the wires in the South Side communities of Homewood, Dolton, Flossmoor, Chicago Heights and Blue Island.

Roofs were ripped off several buildings in Chicago. A construction shack was hurled by a gust of wind into three parked automobiles.

In Kankakee County, a twister was reported at the farms of Jerry Shreffler and John Shear.

Shear's son, Lyle, 15, escaped injury when a garage blew away just after he had driven a car into it.

One of the injured at Springfield, Glen Woods, was cut by flying glass when a window of the Sangamon County Circuit Court was shattered by the wind. A tree fell on the automobile of Mrs. Rose Murphy at Springfield and trapped her. She suffered a foot injury.

Anita Bubert, 8, Springfield, suffered a broken arm when she ran into a school building to escape the storm.

IPAC Moves Offices Downstairs In Rose Building

The Illinois Public Aid Commission is moving its Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children, Disability Assistance and Blind Assistance departments to the lower level of the Rose building July 1, Ray Owens, Saline county welfare superintendent, revealed today.

The offices will be moving from the second floor of this same building, where the IPAC has had headquarters for years.

The lower level, which has 3,000 feet of store space, is being remodeled by the owners, Atty. L. M. Hancock and Hudson Mudgett, to fit the needs of the occupants. T. P. Thompson and Son, Contractors, is doing the general construction work, Harrisburg Electric the electric work, Heister Plumbing the plumbing and Kenneth Keith the air-conditioning.

The new quarters will have its entrance on Elm street.

Mr. Owens pointed out that the new offices would be more convenient to clients, especially aged and disabled persons, because there will be no stairs to climb. The space will be all usable, too, in the remodeling plan.

At Least 122 Persons Killed In Four States

Blackwell, Okla., Is Nearly Cut Off By Flood Waters

BLACKWELL, Okla. (AP)—Flood waters all but isolated this tornado-devastated city today and the death count from killer tornadoes rose far past the 100 mark. Tornadoes have killed at least 122 persons in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and Missouri since they began their rampage through the nation's midsection Wednesday night.

Udall, Kan., across the state line from Blackwell, was a total wreck, wiped out by the worst tornado in Kansas history.

At Blackwell flood waters from the rain-swollen Chikaskia River had nearly cut off the tornado-shattered city of 15,000 from the outside world.

Two highways leading into the city were closed and more were likely to become impassable within a matter of hours. City officials feared the water would reach homes in the city which had escaped the tornado's fury.

About 150 residents just east of the city's tornado-stricken area were evacuated. Officials said the rest of the city, including blocks of wrecked homes, was not in immediate danger from the flood waters.

Count of Dead

A state-by-state count of the dead and injured showed:

Kansas: Udall destroyed and 75 dead. Eleven dead at the nearby village of Oxford, including five children from one family, for a statewide total of 87 dead and at least 300 injured. State officials feared more bodies would be found in the Udall debris today.

Oklahoma: Seventeen persons dead, 500 injured, 500 homes in 72 blocks destroyed at Blackwell. Two more dead at Cheyenne for a state total of 19.

Texas: Fifteen airmen killed when a B 36 ran into a violent storm over Sterling City and crashed.

Missouri: One man killed by a twister near Paris Mo., farm buildings wrecked and trees uprooted.

More tornadoes raged through Arkansas, Iowa, and Illinois Thursday night. Tornado alerts were issued for parts of the Midwest, but were lifted early today.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the storm system was driving northeastward early today, spreading showers and thunderstorms. Little Rock, Ark., was soaked with a flooding 7.25 inches of rain in six hours.

A small logging camp was wrecked and two persons were injured when a tornado ripped an area near Jessieville, Ark., on Thursday night. Tornado winds injured nine persons at Springfield, Ill., and a wind-lashed downpour flooded Chicago streets. Roofs were ripped off by a twister at Carson, Iowa.

Second Smokestack Blasted to Ground At Muddy Plant

The second of the two big smokestacks at the Muddy power plant was blasted to the ground yesterday.

It was a bigger job than blowing down the first one Tuesday. Where the first one was 17 inches thick, the one yesterday had a thickness of 27 inches. The base of the one yesterday was 64 feet in circumference, of the first one 51 feet.

The stacks, blown down for the American Wrecking Co. by Archie Tilley, explosives expert, were 205 feet high. Forty-four pounds of special explosive blew down the first one. Tilley said that yesterday's charge was two-thirds bigger than the first.

Setting off the explosive yesterday was Joe Pavelonis of Muddy, assisted by Warren Hill.

The initial blast to weaken the stack came off during the noon hour yesterday, the big explosion that knocked it down around 4:45 p. m.

DEATH OF A LEGEND

XXVI

At the precise moment of his furious order to Pitts, inside the bank, fate was moving in on Jesse from along Division Street, outside it.
And she was grinning a little as she moved, thinking perhaps of Jolly Wymore.

Like Jolly, Henry M. Wheeler was also a 19-year-old college student. Home on summer vacation from Michigan University, at the moment Cole Younger swung off his bay to begin fussing with his saddlebag, he was talking with J. S. Allen in front of the latter's hardware store. And, again like Jolly Wymore, Henry Wheeler was quick of eye, wide of curiosity.

"Now, why the heck you suppose that man in the long duster is fooling so long with that strap?
Stopping right in the middle of Division Street?" For the first time, he noticed Clell. "Look yonder.
There's another of them standing by the bank door. Same coat and all."

"Henry, my boy—" Allen had seen Jesse and Bob and Pitts here earlier — "there's more here than meets the eye. You set tight."

With the order, he moved down the street toward the bank. Coming up the sidewalk unheeded, he turned in at the bank as though to enter on business. Clell grabbed him, spun him into the wall, flashed a gun.

"Hold still and keep your mouth shut," he ordered.

J. S. Allen was no college boy.
He got a knee into Clell's groin, leaped away and back up the street. J. S. Allen had many talents, among them a fine bass voice.
"They're robbing the bank, boys!
Get your guns!"

At the signal, the watching Wheeler was off across the square. He was a two-letter trackman and had the lungs to go with the legs that proved it.

In the center of the street, Cole watched the boy go. He had a clear, close shot at him and did not move to take it. There would never be a Jolly Wymore for Cole Younger.

Until this moment there had been only five outlaws on the scene.
Now, in seeming answer to the gunfire, three more linen-dusted norsemens swung their mounts out of a side street and raced them for the bank.

As they did, Clell and Cole began wheeling their horses up and down Division Street, raking the storefronts with slugs.

The walls of the First National Bank of Northfield were no more soundproof than were the crackling nerves of the three desperadoes within them.

Charlie Pitts wheeled, startled.
"They're on to the boys outside!"
With the words, he slashed Heywood squarely across the eyes with his .44 barrel, knocking him senseless. The next instant he was leaping to join Bob and Jesse where they still held Bunker and Wilcox against the teller's counter.

At the sound of the outer gunfire, Jesse kicked the kneeling Wilcox.

Bob seized Bunker, lifting him to his feet.

"All right, mister. Where's the money outside the safe?"

Bunker gestured toward a cash drawer. Bob, producing Cole's wheatstake, ripped the drawer open.

In it were less than $100. He threw the pitiful flutter of bills into the sack, whirled, white-faced, on Bunker.

"There's more money! Where is it? This ain't the cashier's till?"

Watching them, Jesse suddenly grimaced. "We'll find it ourselves."

Bunker, hysterical with pain, leaped to his feet and ran for the rear door of the bank.

Pitts fired and missed, ran cursing after him. He fired again, down the outer alley. The bullet smashed through Bunker's shoulder. The bookkeeper staggered clear of the bank corner and around it to safety.

Pitts ran back through the bank, shouting wildly. "The game's up, he's got clean away!" At the front door he leaped back as a rifle slug smashed a pane and ricocheted into the vault ceiling. "Pull out!"
he yelled at the motionless Jesse.

With the yell, he ducked and ran through the door into the street.

"I'm gone, Jess." Bob's calm nod went to the still unmoving Jesse. "They'll have us treed in another 10 seconds." He vaulted the teller's counter, slid out his second gun, shot his way into the street, after Pitts.

Jesse came slowly around the counter, moving as though bewildered. At the base of the vault to his left, something stirred, caught at his vacant stare. It was Heywood.

Dazedly recovering consciousness, the cashier staggered drunkenly to his feet, weaved toward the door. Instantly, Jesse was behind him.

The single shot, powder-blasted from a range of inches, struck behind the cashier's right ear and exited above his left eye, blowing away his face. There were still no human words in the snarl, as his murderer shoved Heywood's falling body out of his path and ran, stumbling, for the door.

Outside, he stepped into a heat of aroused-citizen fire.

Allen's Hardware was, by san-guinary fate, Northfield's principal gunstore. From the moment of his escape from Clell, the cool-headed merchant had begun issuing new rifles and boxed ammunition to his fellow townsmen. By the time Jesse reached the street, no less than 30 men were firing at his trappled followers.

And they had had 10 precious

Vaccine Manufacturers Agree to Stiff New Gov't Safety Standards

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today announced the formal adoption of stiff new safety standards for Salk polio shots "to make a good vaccine better" and to protect "our children."

Manufacturers said the move will delay full resumption of the nation's inoculation program by at least six weeks. But they unanimously agreed to the standards early today in the interests of safety.

In a statement issued well after 4 a. m. EDT, Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele proclaimed the safety of all vaccine "already produced and used," except for two

Register Classifieds Valuable Asset in Selling Many Items

Time marches on . . . When one modernizes and installs sanitary conveniences, they naturally want to get rid of inconveniences. H. L. Seets, a Daily Register classified ad user, advertised a WPA toilet recently and sold it promptly, collecting the money for it. But, the purchaser has not yet claimed his property.

Register classifieds have sold a half dozen sows and pigs, a herd of milk goats, and hundreds of frying chickens.

In today's classifieds, a young ex-serviceman's wife who bought beautiful china while with her husband overseas has found it necessary to sell this beautiful set of dishes and matching crystal at a sacrifice price.

suspect lots by Cutter Laboratories. But he said the manufacturers and scientists who met here all week agreed new safety standards are the "only possible course" to insure protection for America's children.

Scheele said the government's new vaccine clearance committee hopes to make recommendations in a few days regarding the clearance of vaccine made by Pitman-Moore and Wyeth Laboratories.

Inspection Report "Excellent"
This vaccine, approved once, was ordered rechecked three weeks ago. Scheele indicated it will be cleared. He said the inspection report on the two firms was "excellent." Vaccine by Parke Davis and Eli Lilly was released previously.

Scheele said Cutter Laboratories, whose vaccine has been under suspension, is resuming production under the revised standards. Its vaccine will, of course, have to be cleared by the government batch-by-batch before being distributed.

The surgeon general's announcement came at the end of an all-week dispute over what form the safety standards should take. It also climaxed a marathon, 15-hour final session which didn't wind up until 2:20 a. m. today.

Hedy Reports $50,000 Theft; Undergoes Lie Test

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Police declined today to release the results of a lie detector test given to motion picture actress Hedy Lamarr, who reported $50,000 worth of jewelry stolen from her home Tuesday night.

Miss Lamarr took the test along with her husband, oil millionaire W. Howard Lee, a maid, and three other servants. Police Lt. J. E. Wilburn, in charge of the burglary and theft division, said the couple's other servants will take the test today.

The police have not established a suspect in the theft. "We're still conducting the investigation on the theory that the theft could have been an inside job or by someone outside the house," he said.

Wilburn said Miss Lamarr suggested the lie detector tests. She appeared a little nervous when it came time for it, he said, but never wavered once. Her test took an hour-and-a-half, he said.

She was followed by her husband then the servants. Neither Lee nor Miss Lamarr could be reached today for comment.

Miss Lamarr and Lee reported the theft Thursday. They said the jewels were stolen Tuesday night but they had not reported the loss sooner because they thought they would find the gems somewhere in the house.

Hit Premature Disclosure of Medical Discoveries

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Delegates to the 64th annual meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs today considered a resolution deploring the "premature announcement of medical discoveries."

The resolution demanded "that research scientists, manufacturers, distributors and the governmental agencies concerned work together untiringly in order to exercise every possible means to assure a safe, effective plan of use of medical discoveries."

It added that failure to achieve teamwork among the different groups "bring confusion, lack of confidence, and heartbreak to the families of America."

The resolution, presented by Mrs. Walter V. MaGee, chairman of the Department of Community Affairs, and Mrs. Harold V. Milligan, chairman of the Health Division, further resolved that "the people of America be urged to school themselves to await patiently every possible test as to effectiveness of scientific discoveries before pressing for their use."

The resolution pointed out that scientists were working on virtually every known disease with the result that at any moment there "may come announcements which are comparable in importance to that of the discovery of the Salk polio vaccine formula with its inestimable values."

Take increased devotion to their cause...

...that these dead shall not have died in vain

On Memorial Day, how better can we honor our departed heroes than to rededicate ourselves to the cause for which they gave "the last full measure of devotion?" Let us so live as to prove worthy of their supreme sacrifice. Let us be constantly alert to guard the priceless heritage of Liberty they fought so nobly to preserve. In their memory, let us pledge our thoughts, words and deeds to the single high purpose of keeping America forever strong . . . so that America may remain forever free.

We Will Not Forget

THOSE WHO DIED FOR FREEDOM

For them, the last, long note of taps has sounded but their battle cry of freedom rings throughout eternity.

Their unconquerable spirit marches on:

and time cannot erase the glory of their struggle or their cause.

May we preserve the principles for which they gave their youth . . . their lives . . .

that they may rest in peace forever more.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our dear father, J. T. Tavender, who departed this life May 27, 1949. God gave us strength to bear it, Courage to meet the blow, Though how it hurt to lose you, Only those who love you know. Heartbreak lies behind our smiles And laughter hides the tears It seems like only yesterday, Instead of six long years. Sadly missed by daughters.

In Memoriam
In memory of W. T. Hamilton, who passed away 2 years ago May 27th.
A Little Step Away
To close the eye, to fall asleep,
To draw a labored breath,
To find release from daily cares
In what we know as death...
Is this the crowning of a life,
The aim or end thereof?
The total sum of consciousness,
The ripened fruit of love?
It cannot be, for works of God
Are wrought for nobler ends,
And those away continue on
In the hearts of kin and friends.
It cannot be, for they live on
A little step away.
The soul, the everlasting life,
Has found a better day.
Sadly missed by the family:
Mrs. Eva Hamilton,
Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hamilton,
Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hamilton,
Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hamilton and children,
Mr. and Mrs. Louie Cash.

Judge Fred Wham Refuses Bail For Evan Dale

CHICAGO (U-P) — A Federal Court has refused to grant bail to convicted labor racketeer Evan Dale on grounds this might "tempt" him to "seek a more hospitable climate."

Dale, former southern Illinois boss of AFL Common Laborers, was convicted at East St. Louis last December of violating anti-racketeering laws.

Judge Fred L. Wham sentenced him to 15 years in prison and fined him $10,000. Dale is appealing, and sought to be freed on bond pending the final outcome of the case.

Wham refused Dale bond on grounds he was a "menace," a threat to the community and disloyal to his union. This ruling was upheld Thursday by the U. S. Circuit Court here.

Dale also faces prosecution on income tax evasion charges in Federal Court at Springfield, Ill., and other indictments in southern Illinois and the Eastern District of Missouri.

Knauff Replaces Spudich as Freeport Football Coach

FREEPORT, Ill. (U-P) — Don Knauff, 29, today was named varsity football coach at Freeport high school to succeed Joe Spudich who held the post since 1951.

Knauff, an all-stater here in 1943 and a four-letter winner at the University of Wisconsin, has been assistant grid coach for four years. Spudich will remain on the coaching staff.

Graduation Night Held as Scheduled in Stricken City

BLACKWELL, Okla. (U-P) — It was graduation night in tornado-shattered Blackwell Thursday night.

This city of 15,000 was in ruins and threatened by flood waters. The twister had killed 17 persons, injured 500, and wrecked 72 blocks. But that didn't stop the graduation exercises, or Blackwell's determination to come back.

The seniors receiving their diplomas tried to look happy, even though many of them had lost a home or, perhaps, a friend or relative in the furious twister come that hit Wednesday night.

Their determination to keep going was symbolic of the spirit in the devastated towns of Blackwell and Udall, Kan., just across the state line.

The townspeople—those who are not in the crowded hospitals—are coming out of their daze. They're talking about rebuilding their towns and their lives.

Girl, 14, Lies Flat While Train Passes Over Her

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U-P) — Nancy Thomas looked death in the face for 10 minutes today, and lived to tell about it.

Nancy, a 14-year old high school student, was on route to school with schoolmate Fran Miller, 16. They decided to take a short cut across the tracks. However, a stalled freight train blocked their way.

Fran crawled under the stalled train, but it started to move just as Nancy was midway in the tracks.

Keeping her presence of mind, Fran noticed Nancy's legs extending over the track, and yelled: "Get your legs off the track... lie flat in the middle."

The terrified girl under the train obeyed, although screaming and in near shock. Nancy managed to keep a running conversation with her schoolmate, who was standing a few inches from the moving train.

Fran kept repeating her warning, "Keep your head down... The end of the train is coming... Lay flat."

It took about 10 minutes for the train to pass over the spot where Nancy covered on the ties between the rails.

She emerged shaken, but unharmed.

Newcombe Hurls Dodgers to 6-2 Victory Over Pirates; Pollet Blanks Cardinals, 3-0

By United Press
Big Don Newcombe of Brooklyn has fallen into the most miserable kind of rut imaginable—he keeps winning games but losing money.

No one is hitting the huge, right-handed fastballer much on the mound these days but he sure is getting belted hard in the pocket-book.

Take his six-hit 6-2 victory over Pittsburgh Thursday, for example. Newcombe figured he had put in a pretty profitable day. After all, he tripled home two runs in the ninth and even stole home standing up to nail down his seventh victory with a loss.

Upon returning to his hotel room however, he learned he had been fined $40 for arguing with umpire Frank Secory last Tuesday night. Of course, that fine doesn't compare with the $400 one taken out of his last salary check for refusing to pitch batting practice earlier this month, but every little bit hurts.

Newcombe, who hopes he'll get all that money back, and then some in the form of a World Series' cut, enabled the pace-setting Dodgers to retain their six-game lead over the rampaging Cubs, who beat the Cardinals, 3-0.

Victory By Pollet

The victory, turned in by veteran Howie Pollet, marked the Cubs' seventh in their last eight games. Rookie Bob Speake continued his spirited hitting with a homer and a single that accounted for two of Chicago's runs.

Rookie Marv Blaylock's 11th inning double drove in Roy Smalley from second base and gave the Phillies a four-game sweep over the Giants, 3-2. Bob Miller relieved starter Bob Kuzava in the sixth, pitched three-hit ball the rest of the way and was rewarded with his second triumph. Hoyt Wilhelm, third giant pitcher, was the loser. Cincinnati nipped Milwaukee, 5-4, in the first of two scheduled games but the nightcap was postponed because of rain. The Redlegs won the game with four runs in the fifth inning, Gus Bell singling home two runs and Wally Pott another two. Ted Kluszewski became the major league home run leader when he blasted his 12th four-bagger off loser Lew Burdette in the second inning.

The Yankees increased their American league lead to 2 1-2 games by capturing both ends of a doubleheader from the Senators, 8-4 and 7-3.

Eddie Robinson's three-run homer was the big blow among the Yankees' 11 hits in the opener which was credited to rookie Johnny Kucks even though he was nicked for homers by Jim Busby and Mickey Vernon. In the nightcap, Yogi Berra hit his 10th homer with two on off Dean Stone in the first inning to give the Yankees a lead they never lost. Elston Howard also homered. Lefty Bob Wiesler started for New York but was relieved in the fifth by Jim Konstanty, who was credited with the victory.

Beaten by the White Sox, 3-1, in the first game of a doubleheader, Bob Lemon came back with an eighth-inning pinch single to give the Indians a 10-9 triumph in the nightcap. Lemon forced across the

Wirt Downing is Named Principal at East St. Louis High

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (U-P) — Wirt Downing, head football coach at East St. Louis high school for the last 16 years, announced today he was leaving athletic fields to take the post of principal at the school.

His appointment as principal was announced Thursday night.

Downing compiled an unmatched record of victorious football teams. In his 16 years as head coach, his teams won 144 games, lost 18 and tied 7.

Five of the Downing - coached teams had undefeated seasons, including the last three.

winning runs in the sixth inning of the opener when he walked winning pitcher Jack Harschman and Chico Carrasquel with the bases loaded. In the second game, Nellie Fox of Chicago hit homers in the seventh and eighth innings to tie the score at 9-all, but Lemon dissolved the deadlock in the last of the eighth when he singled home Dave Philley. Reliever Art Houtteman was the winner.

Jim Wilson hurled a four-hitter and drove in a run himself to lead the Orioles to a 2-0 victory over the Red Sox. Leo Kiely was the loser.

Rain postponed the Detroit-Kansas City game.
